From its inception in 1935, Southeastern University has been a Christ-centered, student-focused university. Believing deeply in the integration of faith and learning, Southeastern is unique in its approach to develop leaders who will change the world through Christ-like leadership. Southeastern has rested on a solid foundation of vision and faith as the school has evolved and relocated through the years, gradually expanding its mission and degree offerings, along with its student population, and moving in 1952 to its permanent suburban campus in Lakeland, Florida.

Today, vision and faith still underlie Southeastern University. Currently enrolling over 7,100 students, both traditional and nontraditional, Southeastern students represent a variety of denominations, personal interests, backgrounds, states, and countries.

In the Fall of 2016, Southeastern University was recognized as one of the nation’s fastest growing private baccalaureate institutions by The Chronicle of Higher Education, with an increase in enrollment of 95% in the last ten years. In just the last five years, enrollment has more than doubled from 3,434 to 7,163.

We offer a vital, Christ-centered education that through a wide range of academic majors leading to the associate’s, bachelor’s, master’s, and doctoral degrees, prepares our students for a life of world-changing leadership in a variety of fields. Our programs of study span the following academic areas: behavioral and social sciences, business, education, language, communication and fine arts, music, natural sciences and mathematics, and religion.
